Office of the Deputy Commissioner,
Mysore District,
1-2- 1913.

Dear Sir,

(178) One hundred and Seventy Eight accused including Putta Subbe Gowda have been charged. There are 180 prosecution witnesses. The Order committing the above accused to Sessions will be pronounced on the 8th The number of defence witnesses is not

Quorum. As the trial will take not less than three months, the appointment of an additional Sessions Judge is necessary; as for a Special Public Prosecutor
either the present Public Prosecutor can be appointed,
a substitute being nominated in his stead.

or one of the leading advocates, like Mr. Ramiengar pounded.

I think that as the Sessions will probably take not less than 70 or 80 hearing days, a remuneration of Rs 3000 will not be excessive; or a daily fees of 35 to 40 Rs may be fixed.

Yrs sincerely
K Chandy

Note

1 The papers in the file relate to the selection & appointment of a Public Prosecutor for the Kannagal Riot case to be tried by the Additional Sessions Judge of Mysore.

2. The following alternatives suggest themselves for consideration :—

(a) Selection of a Senior Leading Advocate at Mysore.

(b) Deputation of the permanent Public Prosecutor to do this special work, a P. P. being appointed from time to time for the ordinary Sessions.

(c) Selection of any Bangalore Advocate, Senior & capable.

3. The District Magistrate under take[s] to [three of the] Mysore Advocates viz Messrs M.C. Rangachar, Chandrasekharayya and M. Srinivasa Iyengar demand the following fees:—

Mr M.C. Ranga Iyengar :- Rs 100 per day or Rs 3000 for the whole case.

Mr Chandra Sekharayya & Mr Krishna Rao together : Rs 50 per day or Rs 5000 for the whole case.

Mr M. Srinivasa Iyengar :- Rs 50 per day or Rs 3000 for the whole case.

B

4. If the Govt. are prepared to sanction as much as Rs 3000 for the whole case, Mr M. C Rangiyar will do best. His powerful & clear exposition will be substantial help to the Court and the Prosecutor.

5. As regards the second alternative, it may be noted that even the permanent Public Prosecutor will claim special fees for the work and that he is comparatively a junior not yet fully trained in closely analysing complicated cases and presenting them in a very clear manner. Much better Advocates are available.

6. The last alternative can be thought of only when an Advocate, equal to Mr M.C. Rangiyar in talents & position, can be had here for less remuneration than what is demanded by Mr R. Iyengar.

7. A very early appointment is necessary as the Special P.P. has to study the bulky records of the case including the Special diaries of the Police, before the trial begins.

If we are to confine our choice to the Ellyore Bar, Mr. M.C. Rangaiengar may be appointed for a lump sum fee of 3000 Rs. His daily charge is somewhat too high.

If we may extend the field of selection, an enquiry may be made among the Senior advocates here & ascertain their terms +

Submitted to His Highness.

Paper under disposal.

The Kannegal riot case has been committed to the Sessions and will be tried by the Additional Sessions Judge Mr. Humza Hussain. A Special Public Prosecutor has now to be appointed to conduct the prosecution in the Sessions Court as, on account of the large number of accused persons to be tried and the number of witnesses to be examined, the trial of the case is likely to extend over nearly two months. The Public Prosecutor will not be able to conduct the prosecution in this case in addition to his ordinary duties. Having regard to the importance of the case, it is desirable that a capable and experienced member of the Bar should be appointed to conduct the prosecution. The Deputy Commissioner, Mr. Chandy, was requested to ascertain and report the terms on which the leading Advocates in Mysore would take up the case and his D.O. letter dated 7th February 1913, contains information on this point. I have made enquiries and discussed the question with most of the important officers concerned and on the whole, I am inclined to recommend the appointment of Mr. M.C.Rangiengar as Special Public Prosecutor on a fixed fee of Rs.3,000/- for the whole case.
